

Bravida forms Building Automation – a new Group-wide business area, to strengthen its focus on building automation

Bravida creates a new Group-wide business area focusing on building automation. The aim is to strengthen and further develop what Bravida already offers with regard to building automation, remote services, energy optimisation and digitalisation of services.

Bravida Building Automation will enhance the possibilities to integrate, monitor and coordinate all technical systems in customer buildings, including remotely. Optimising energy usage and giving customers operational reliability, convenience and energy efficiency will increase the value of their properties.

“By creating Bravida Building Automation, we will further improve our customers’ options for optimising their energy consumption and thereby lowering operating costs and reducing their climate footprints. We are digitalising our range of services by means of system support for deviation analysis, energy optimisation and the use of AI,” comments Stefan Sandström, new Head of Building Automation at Bravida.

Bravida Building Automation will supplement Bravida’s already extensive range of expertise in all technology areas relating to service and installation in buildings. It will also thereby strengthen the range of services offered by Bravida.

“The creation of Bravida Building Automation is a major initiative throughout Bravida to increase growth in the building automation sector and ensure that we continue to offer our customers the best range of services across the entire Nordic region. Stefan Sandström has many years of experience from similar positions in leading companies in the industry, and is the right person to lead the business area. I wish him good luck,” says Mattias Johansson, CEO and Group President of Bravida.

The Bravida Building Automation business area will be launched in September 2021, and the aim is to become the market leader in automation in the Nordic region.
